

BRIEF OVERVIEW OF TRANSITIONAL LIVING SERVICES REVISED MARCH 2016

Transitional Living Services provide a multipurpose, systemic and integrated approach for youth and young adults to help in transitioning to a successful adulthood through coordinated permanency and transition planning. The provision of Transitional Living Services includes access to information about benefits, supports, and resources that affect both older youth in foster care and those who have aged out of foster care. Transitional Living Services apply to youth and young adult's ages 14 up to age 23 (depending on the program) and up to age 26 for continuous healthcare coverage.

Experiential Life Skills Training

Foster parents and other providers are required to train youth age 14 such as money management, credit history, balancing a checkbook and performing basic household tasks. If a youth has a source of income the provider will assist the youth in establishing a savings account. In addition, foster parents and providers must connect youth and young adults to community resources such post-secondary education; employment; and vocational/technical school opportunities. These life skills activities provided by the caregiver along with the receipt of PAL services should complement one another and are discussed and addressed in each core life skill area within the transition plan. http://www.dfps.state.tx.us/handbooks/CPS/Files/CPS_pg_x10000.asp#CPS_10111

Identifying caring adults for youth and involving them in transition planning help to ensure personal and community connections are incorporated into the transition planning process. Transition planning continues to be conducted for those young adults in the Extended Foster Care program.

Circle of Support (COS)

A COS is a youth driven process beginning at 16 years of age and may take the place of the required permanency planning meetings as a means of developing a transition plan. The COS is facilitated by the family conference specialist and is coordinated by the youth and their support system. COS participants can include a youth, family members, foster care providers, teachers, church members, a mentor and so on. Participants meet to develop and review the youth's permanency and transition plan, identify strengths, goals and needs in the areas of permanency, education, employment, health/mental health needs, housing, and PAL life skills training components.
